COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 30.

THE London Stock Markets yesterday, so far as Reuter's usual quatotions go, were without change of any kind, and regarding most other markets the same remark might be made.

Seeds are unchanged, but Wheat is firmer and partially 6d. per quarter dearer in London.

The Liverpool Cotton market yesterday closed dull, the sales being 7,000 bales, of which 1,200 were Surats, and to-day's market closed irregular, sales only 5,000 bales, including 700 Surats. Spot prices remain unaltered, but in London Bengals are quoted ¼d., Westerns 1-16d., per lb. lower. In New York ready Mid-Uplands have declined from 11 13-16 to 11 11-16 cents, and November shipment from 11·21 to 11·08 cents per lb.

We subjoin our usual weekly comparison of the statistical position. The most noticeable feature is the fact of the American receipts for the week being at last ahead of last year's, and the increase in the visible supply which will now become more marked each week.

The American crop figures to date give the following comparisons with the two previous seasons :—

	1882.	1881.	1880.
Week's receipts	136,000	132,000	171,000
" exports to U. K.	32,000	54,000	57,000
" " to Continent	14,000	24,000	30,000
Total receipts since 1st Sept.....	295,000	421,000	492,400
" Exports to U.K. "	92,000	166,700	185,600
" " to Cont. "	32,000	33,100	61,700
" Stock in the ports.....	217,000	383,000	312,000

The total visible supply of cotton for all Europe on the 29th inst. affords the following comparisons with the two previous years :—

	1882.	1881.	1880.
Total supply of all kinds.....	1,300,000	1,732,940	1,327,000
Do. do. Surats.....	551,000	695,770	327,160

For the U. K. only the figures are :—

Stock in Liverpool.....	481,000	655,310	467,800
" London	79,000	42,200	50,900
American Afloat	40,000	102,000	85,000
East Indian "	128,000	60,000	48,000
	728,000	859,510	651,700
Price of Mid-Uplands	6½d.	7¾d.	6 13-16d.
Do. Fair Dhollera.....	4 7-16d.	4¼d.	4 15-16d.
Difference	2 7-16d.	3d.	1¾d.

EXCHANGE.—There has been a slightly firmer feeling apparent, but not to an extent to affect rates at all, which are the same as quoted yesterday, viz. :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7 15-16d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 7 27-32d.	,, (Nil.)
Do. 3 months' sight	1s. 8 5-32d.	,,
Credits. 3 " "	1s. 8¼d.	,,
Francs. 3 " "	2·14	,,

On Calcutta we quote demand at ¼ per cent premium, 60 days' sight at 7-16 discount.

SHARES are steady. Bank of Bombays remain at Rs. 772½, but National Bank of India have advanced to Rs. 98. Press Companies keep very firm. Dhollerah are Rs. 20. Mofussils Rs. 5 higher. Mills are rather better again and Madras United have advanced Rs. 50 per share.

COTTON is dull with very little doing. Some 300 bales strict F.G.F. Faizpore are reported to have been bought at Rs. 194, and 100 bales new American seed has changed hands at the same price for February delivery.

In SEEDS and WHEAT there is no quotable change.

FREIGHTS are unaltered. Another steamer is said to have been put on the Liverpool berth at 20s. and 22s. 6d., and the s.s. Edwin has been fixed open charter at 25s. with concessions.

PIECE-GOODS are firm, but not very active.

COALS are decidedly firmer with a better inquiry, and should the inquiry become more active, prices must improve, as there is nothing offering.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1882.

NOTWITHSTANDING the untoward destruction of the ammunition train at Cairo, and the shortcomings of the Transport, Commissariat, and Medical Departments, the grand review of the British troops in Egypt was a great success. From the alarming reports which have been circulated respecting the complicity of the natives in the explosion, it became a subject of anxiety whether the mishap would not in some way mar the spectacle intended to signalise the triumph of the British arms. These misgivings have happily proved to be unfounded. The review has passed over not only without a hitch, but, apparently, with all the éclat that could have been desired to create a profound impression on the spectators for whose benefit it was more particularly intended. The review was witnessed by the Khedive and his Ministers, the members of the diplomatic body, and immense crowds of people. Nothing, in fact, seems to have been wanting to make the assemblage an imposing display of military strength, and to surround it with the dramatic effect for which the situation and the occasion were so admirably suited. This is the more gratifying to us in India because the troops who left these shores have had a full opportunity of exhibiting their splendid qualities. On Saturday they were, according to a London correspondent, the objects of especial admiration, more particularly the Beluchees and the 13th Lancers. We have already expressed the opinion that not the least important outcome of the Egyptian campaign will be the recognition by England of the immense reserve of military power she has in India. The utterances of London papers, and the popular enthusiasm which has been aroused by the achievements of the Indian Contingent, show that the discovery of the excellence of the troops has broken upon the English public mind an exceedingly pleasant surprise. We have in all probability heard the last of the iniquity of employing sepoys outside India; and it will, no doubt, be the task of some future statesman to devise a scheme of co-operation by which the military resources of the East and the West may be effectively employed for mutual advantage.

It is much to be desired that the struggle which commenced with the bombardment of Alexandria may now be considered closed by the triumph of Saturday. We are informed that the natives were much impressed by the sight. This is so far satisfactory, but it remains to be seen whether the wholesome effect of this exhibition will have a permanent effect. There are numerous circumstances connected with the situation which afford grounds for reflection. Reports are singularly contradictory respecting the explosion of the ammunition train. The official accounts give out the affair as wholly accidental, arising either from the heat or the concussion of the waggons. The independent reports, on the other hand, attribute the occurrence to design on the part of the natives. If the information published by the Allahabad paper be correct, that arrests have been made, and "much property" in her own right, which she seemed to be on the point of muddling away paying her husband's debts, conceived the idea of getting a portion of her cash for their own use. The result was a series of lawsuits, of which the most satisfactory thing that can be said is that the High Court has refused to believe in the authenticity of any of the instruments produced to sustain the claims preferred. The lawyers have profited very largely by the costly litigation, and one man is undergoing three years' imprisonment for forgery. It is a pity the police have been able to lay hands upon one man only. The operative forger has, we believe, given up a quantity of documents which had been manufactured by him in the way of business, and with them the specimens and drafts which had been furnished him. It ought not to be difficult, with these pieces in evidence, to induce this Bombay "Jim the Penman" to make a clean breast of everything, and to put the authorities on the scent of the people who employ forged instruments to substantiate fraudulent claims. Is it true that a number of the documents handed up to the police by Bapoojee's instructions were prepared for Marwarees for use when occasion should arise?

MR. JUSTICE WEST has given a voluminous judgment in the last—or perhaps we ought to say the latest—of the series of cases which have been so long before the High Court, and have been reported in our columns under the heading "A Dispute between Relatives." In this case, as in the others, there have been the freest imputations, not to say the most satisfactory proof, of wholesale forgery. The Court has once again registered its decision in favour of the sister as against one of her brothers. The promissory note on which Mr. Dorabjee sought to recover three thousand rupees was impugned as a spurious document, and so was another document produced to support it. The fact that a professional forger was brought from prison to testify that he manufactured both documents for Dorabjee may be set aside, for the evidence on the point was sufficiently strong without his affidavit. The Court did not believe either in the documents or in the claim, and pronounced the plaintiff "entitled to no relief." But having regard to circumstances in the defence which Mr. Justice West considered "highly suspicious" and "calculated to throw great doubt on the integrity of the defendants," he directed that the parties should respectively bear their own costs of the suit. Thus the defendants, while winning their case, are mulcted as heavily as is the plaintiff, who preferred a claim which the Court has held, to say the least, unproved. We have looked through the judgment pretty carefully, and bearing in mind the evidence given, we cannot see that the circumstances mentioned by the judge as suspicious were incapable of explanation. It must not be forgotten that in previous cases very similar tactics were employed against the principal defendant, and that the Court in those cases registered judgment in her favour. On the face of it, the presumption seems to be that two brothers, one of whom certainly was "quite unworthy of belief on his own credit," knowing that their sister was possessed of some property in her own right, which she seemed to be on the point of muddling away paying her husband's debts, conceived the idea of getting a portion of her cash for their own use. The result was a series of lawsuits, of which the most satisfactory thing that can be said is that the High Court has refused to believe in the authenticity of any of the instruments produced to sustain the claims preferred. The lawyers have profited very largely by the costly litigation, and one man is undergoing three years' imprisonment for forgery. It is a pity the police have been able to lay hands upon one man only. The operative forger has, we believe, given up a quantity of documents which had been manufactured by him in the way of business, and with them the specimens and drafts which had been furnished him. It ought not to be difficult, with these pieces in evidence, to induce this Bombay "Jim the Penman" to make a clean breast of everything, and to put the authorities on the scent of the people who employ forged instruments to substantiate fraudulent claims. AMONG the distinguished visitors who are coming to India during the approaching cold season are the Duke of Portland and the Earl of Zetland.

THE shock of an earthquake was felt at Kashmere, on the 13th instant. It lasted 30 seconds. Heavy rain had been falling on that and the previous day.

THE Government has sanctioned the formation of a Cadet Company of Volunteers composed of boys of the Cawnpore Memorial School, to be attached to the Cawnpore Volunteer Rifle Corps.

WE learn that His Highness the Thakore Sahib of Joonaghur, Nawab Mohobut Khanjee, died at Joonaghur on Friday last. He will be succeeded by his son, Bapoo Meea Saheb, who attained his majority some years ago.

AN experienced officer makes the following comments on the embarkation arrangements in Bombay. "They were certainly as perfect as possible: I have seen troops embark in many lands, and never saw anything better done. I wish our friends, the Germans, could have been present."

WE (Pioneer) understand that the Legal Member of Council means to take up the question of the triple publication of Bills before the Legislative Council in the Gazette; and in all probability the custom will shortly be abolished.

THE Rev. Father Symphorien, the Rector of St. Peter's College, Agra, has received orders from Rome for his consecration as Bishop, and his appointment as Vicar Apostolic of the Seychelles Islands, in the Indian Ocean, north of Madagascar.

WITH regard to the defences of British Burmah three 9-inch guns have, within the last few weeks, been placed in position at Monkey Point. Some experimental firing was done in presence of the Chief Commissioner and Major-General Burton. The practice was excellent, and would have made the approach of any ironclad extremely perilous.

THE following changes will shortly take place amongst the Deputy Postmasters-General. Mr. Mackenzie, who has been officiating in the Central India circle, joins his substantive appointment in Eastern Bengal. Mr. E. de C. Williams, from British Burmah, goes to Central India, and Mr. Barton Groves, from Eastern Bengal, is transferred to Burmah.

At the High Court, on Saturday, Mr. Justice West delivered judgment in the case in which Dorabjee Hormusjee Shroff sued his sister Dossibai and her husband, Cowasjee Jehangeer Jussawalla, to recover Rs. 3,000 due on a promissory note alleged to have been passed by Dossibai. His Lordship, after reviewing the evidence at great length, came to the conclusion that both parties had adopted very unscrupulous means to support their respective cases. The genuineness of the promissory note on which the suit was brought was strongly doubted by the experts, and there was no independent evidence sufficiently reliable on behalf of the plaintiff. His Lordship rejected the claim; but, considering the nature of the defence, directed that both parties should bear their own costs of the suit.

WE (Bombay Guardian) received on Thursday a telegram from Calcutta to this effect: "Great indignation is felt in religious circles here at the persecution of the Salvationists. A public meeting will probably be called to express sympathy for the imprisoned and protest against persecution. The action of Government is regarded as intolerant in the extreme." A similar feeling prevails in Bombay, not only in religious circles, but among all classes, European and native, judging from numerous indications that have reached us. We do not, at the time of writing this, know what expression will be given to this feeling. Many are anxious that a public meeting should be held.

THE same authority gives the following paragraph, which has its significance:—Mr. Mody after preaching to a tumultuous crowd at his usual stand on Tuesday, was in returning followed by the rabble and stoned, receiving, we are sorry to say, a severe wound in the back of his head. This did not hinder his preaching the next day in the same place, his audience being then quiet and respectful. We may here state in few words that the preacher of the Gospel may always get an audience in the open air in Bombay, the great majority of whom are disposed to listen quietly, and a small minority will make trouble if they think there is nothing to be apprehended.

THE Englishman publishes some correspondence between the Judges of the Supreme Court of Bengal and the Government of India regarding their salaries in the year 1774. This correspondence may be interesting at this moment. It shows that Elijah Impey, the friend of Warren Hastings, was the moving spirit. The result of the request of the Judges is unknown; but it seems highly probable that the outturn may have been the fixing of the salaries in rupees instead of pounds. The correspondence is an exact copy taken from the Impey MSS. in the British Museum. The originals are, no doubt, in the archives of the Government, if they have not shared the fate of much else that is valuable. It will also be noted that the salary of the Chief Justice more than a hundred years ago, when the purchasing power of money in India was nearly one-and-a-half times greater than it is at the present day, stood at £8,000 a year, while the Puisne Judges, Chambers, Hyde and LeMaistre, were in receipt of £6,000 each.

HOW, asks a contemporary, would it answer to issue ungummed stamps for the purposes of remittance, providing that they should always be exchangeable at any post office for ordinary postage stamps of any denomination, or cashable at some very small discount on presentation in considerable amounts at presidency head-offices? Such stamps would constitute a convenient form of remittance for sums below those for which bankers' cheques can conveniently be written. Meanwhile it is surprising that no Indian bank has introduced the "cheque-bank" system, found so convenient in England. Its recommendations are obvious, and, coupled with a reasonable and well-understood rule among all Indian banks in regard to the charge to be made against customers for collecting the amount, the system would be peculiarly well-suited to this country.

IN the Gazette which notifies the closing of the Calcutta Office of the Survey Department, neither praise nor blame has remarks the Englishman, been awarded to the officials of the Marine Survey, who for some years have worked diligently and successfully in the service of the State and the public, performing multifarious and onerous duties. We have reason to believe that the chart depôt has been abolished, its sailing directions with other books and maps sold at the public Exchange mart, the stock of charts returned to England, and in addition the whole records of the office have been destroyed with the sanction of the Government. The immediate consequence of this is that no charts are to be had, and we know as a fact that the Commandant deposed now in port are in ignorance where they are to be obtained. This surely is highly reprehensible. Emigrant ships from Calcutta and various ports are compelled by law to provide themselves with certain charts and sailing directions before being permitted to sail; and a few days ago one of these ships was unable to proceed on her voyage for some time because the Government, which compelled it to carry certain charts, had in a fit of marvellous economy disposed of the whole lot and was not in a position to comply with the requirements of its own laws."

AMONG the special attractions of the Festival of St. Stephen, Hungary's patron saint, recently celebrated at Pesth, were prize competitions not only of beautiful girls but of handsome men and children, as well as of corpulent persons of either sex, and of water-drinkers. The entrees for the Corpulence Prize were numerous; but two of the competitors so obviously excelled all the others, when paraded on the platform coram populo, that their rivals retired from the contest, and only Louisa Zorn and Andrew Schiel underwent the weighing test. The difference between them proving to be only one pound in favour of the lady—who turned the scale at twenty stone four pounds—the prize was divided between these remarkable specimens of unprofessional obesity. As for the Water-Drinking Competition, it was speedily settled. Police Constable No. 517, the first candidate for the prize, contrived to swallow half a gallon of water in two seconds; having witnessed which incomparable feat his would-be competitors withdrew from the struggle, and left his claim to the prize undisputed.

THE proposal to organise a metropolitan regiment of "mounted infantry" has been favourably received, and there is no doubt can be entertained as to its sanction by the Secretary of State for War. A regiment of professional or independent men who keep their own horses must be chiefly self-supporting. It will be a class corps, a corps of enthusiasts, but not the less likely to prove an efficient augmentation of the reserves. If riding men in London can be found to devote some of their time to the acquisition of such knowledge and experience as will make them fairly good military horsemen, there may soon be a force for the metropolis on a level with that which the counties possess in their Yeomanry. A preliminary sketch of the plan on which the corps is to be constituted provides, or suggests, that none but gentlemen of good social position shall be admitted; and that, after the formation of the regiment, the committee shall consist of the lieutenant-colonel, as chairman; the major; the seniors captain, lieutenant, sergeant, and corporal; and six members, to be elected annually by the corps. It is further proposed that every candidate for election shall be pledged to remain a member for at least three years, unless prevented by some unlooked-for cause; and to attend not fewer than twelve drills in every year.

THAT even so stern an institution as Total Abstinence has its humorous side is demonstrated by the recent family experiences of a young Palatinate German, who emigrated in order to join his uncle, aunt, and cousins at Lancaster, in the State of Pennsylvania. During his first meal at his kinsman's table he observed that wine and beer were conspicuous by their absence, while teeming water-bottles were, so to speak, plainly visible to the naked eye. An attempt on his part to comment upon this unconvivial circumstance was cut short by the remark, "We are all temperance folk here; no spirituous liquors enter this house!" After dinner the old gentleman went upstairs to take a nap. As soon as "aunty" found herself alone in the kitchen, she summoned her youthful nephew thither, extracted a bottle of cherry-bounce from a dark nook in one of the cupboards, and held it out to him, saying, "Here, sonny, take a drink; my old man is such a strict teetotaller that I don't dare to let him know I keep a drop of the right stuff to use medicinally." A few minutes later the head of the family called his nephew up to his bedroom, where he promptly produced a gallon-jar of whiskey from a portmanteau under the bed, and, pouring out a handsome dram, observed, "Teetotalling don't prevent me from keeping some decent stuff, in case of illness; but mind you don't let on to the old woman!" Strolling into the stables, shortly after this second surprise, his cousins beckoned the ingenuous immigrant into a barn, where, after fumbling about in the straw for a few seconds they handed him a black bottle, with the encouraging words, "Take a pull at that, cousin; right Bourbon it is; but not a word to the old folks, for two more infatuated teetotalers don't live!"

H. H. THE THAKORE SAHEB OF BHOWNAGAR.

WITH a view to accord a fitting reception to His Highness Maharajah Takhat Singjee, the Thakore of Bhownagar, who is expected to arrive in Bombay by special train to-day, a meeting of native gentlemen was held on Saturday last at "Mazagon Castle," the residence of the Hon'ble Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy, Bart., to consider what steps should be taken for the purpose. Among those present on the occasion were observed Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy, who stood at the entrance to receive the visitors, Sir Munguldas Nathoobhoy, C.S.I., Messrs. Byramjee N. Servai, Dadabhoy Rustomjee Banajee, Venayek Wasudeo, Girjashunker Vijaishunker, H. N. Sakhatwala, V. R. Luxmonjee, K. C. Bedarkur, Khan Bahadoor Byramjee Dadabhoy, Khan Bahadoor M. C. Murzban, Khan Bahadoor Jamsetjee D. Wadia, Messrs. Vijbhoocundas Atmaram, N. R. Banina, Joomabhoy Lalljee, Veerchund Deepchund, Cumalsey Premjee, H. Sadashewjee, Govind Gungadhur, Dr. R. N. Khory, Messrs. Shariff Salay Mahomed, Javarilal Umiashunker, Gungadas Keshordas, Nana Morojee, Lilladhar Shamjee, Dhurumsey Soondersa, Vallabhdas Valljee, Vundravandas Purshotumdas, and Shapurjee Dhunjeebhoy Bottlevala. The proceedings commenced half-an-hour after the appointed time; and on the motion of Sir Munguldas Nathoobhoy, Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy was called to the chair.

The chairman, in addressing the meeting, said.—Gentlemen,—Knowing as we all do in what an enlightened manner the neighbouring State of Bhownagar is administered by its present ruler, Maharajah Takhat Singjee, we should be wanting in our duties as citizens of the capital of Western India if we did not receive His Highness with a cordial welcome on this his first visit to our shores since he assumed the reins of Government. You are aware that he was one of the first to avail himself of the advantages of a sound education afforded to the native Princes of Kathiawad by the establishment of the Rajcoomar College at Rajcote, and one of the first to undertake the fatigues of a long journey through the principal parts of this vast country on leaving the college. The zeal, tact, and ability with which the Thakore Saheb has been discharging the duties of his high office speak volumes in favour of the far-seeing policy which gave us the Rajcoomar College. (Hear, hear.) The very first act of H. H.'s administration was to adopt and sanction the highly beneficial project of carrying the first line of railway into the heart of Kathiawad right on to its chief commercial outlet—an act which displayed foresight and judgment in so young a prince. It is refreshing to think that a youthful native prince has in such a short period of time so completely won the approbation and confidence of all who have watched his career. I remember H. E. the Governor publicly saying that he had "heard nothing but what was good" of this enlightened Prince. This is high praise, and I am sure the Thakore Saheb richly deserves it. It behoves us, therefore, to take this opportunity of marking our sense of his worth by giving him a cordial and fitting welcome. (Applause.)

It was then proposed by the Chairman, and seconded by Sir Munguldas Nathoobhoy, "That this meeting has heard with pleasure of the intended visit to Bombay of His Highness the Thakore Saheb of Bhownagar, and considers it advisable to welcome His Highness at the Grant-road railway station on the day of his arrival, and to give him a suitable entertainment during his stay in Bombay."

The resolution was carried with acclamation.

The chairman proposed, and Sir Munguldas Nathoobhoy be requested to lend his bungalow for the entertainment.

Khan Bahadoor Byramjee Dadabhoy, in seconding the proposition, said it was certainly desirable that they should give a fitting reception to the Thakore Saheb during his stay in Bombay; and he thought that, in honouring so enlightened a Prince, they should be honouring themselves. (Hear, hear.)

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Sir Munguldas Nathoobhoy said he would be happy to comply with the request, coming as it did from such an influential meeting. (Applause.)

It was proposed by Mr. Byramjee N. Servai that a subscription list be opened to collect funds for the above purpose.

Mr. K. C. Bedarkur seconded the proposition. He said that, having been to Bhownagar so recently as May last, he could not but express his opinion regarding the Prince whom they were going to honour in Bombay. As Sir Jamsetjee had told them, His Highness received a careful and liberal education at the Rajcoomar College. It could not be expected from a Prince of advanced years that the views formed in the zenana should be changed early; but much was to be expected from a Prince so educated as Takhat Singjee. He was the first Prince entrusted with the reins of government under the recently inaugurated policy of the Government of India; and the way in which he should acquit himself was anxiously watched by the friends of the country. Mr. Bedarkur was happy to say, from what he had seen and what he had heard personally, that the expectations formed of His Highness had been fully realised. All the reforms suggested by Mr. Percival and Mr. Gowrishunker for the better government of the State had been introduced by His Highness, and their benefits had extended far and wide. He had commenced the erection of a building which had already cost about seven lakhs of rupees, and which, when completed, will be one of the best buildings in India. The wisdom of the prince was seen in the selection of his minister, Mr. Samuldas Purmanundas. He had also acted with much discrimination and judgment in filling up the other important offices in the State. The Bhownagar State had contributed sixty lakhs of rupees towards the State Railway, which would have the effect of developing the commerce of the whole of Kathiawad; and it was trusted Bhownagar would in course of time become a port of great importance. There were other matters which deserved admiration. The State was educating 6,000 boys and 600 girls. Everywhere the signs of activity and progress were unmistakeable, and there was a bustle in the life of the city which made it a miniature Bombay. The officers of the State were proud of their work, and of things being done, and were encouraged by the sympathising and enlightened spirit of the Prince. Such a Prince deserved to be honoured; and the welcome to be accorded him would no doubt be appreciated, and the commercial relations between Bombay and Bhownagar would grow, to the advantage of both. (Cheers.)

The proposition was carried unanimously.

On the motion of Khan Bahadoor Jamsetjee D. Wadia, seconded by Mr. Venayek Wasudeo, a committee was appointed to carry out the above object and to appoint a sub-committee for executive purposes, with Messrs. K. C. Bedarkur and N. R. Banina as secretaries. Among the committee are Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy, Sir Munguldas Nathoobhoy, C.S.I., Mr. Byramjee Jejeebhoy, C.S.I., the Hon'ble Rao Sahib V. N. Mandlik, C.S.I., Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee, C.S.I., Messrs. Dinshaw Manockjee Petit, Sorabjee R. Bengalee, Varjivandas Madhowdas, Framjee Nusserwanjee Patel, N. Byramjee Jeejeebhoy, Nusserwanjee Manockjee Petit, Raghunath N. Khote, the Hon'ble Budroodin Tyabjee, and about sixty-five others.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman and Sir Munguldas Nathoobhoy, proposed by Khan Bahadoor M. C. Murzban. More than Rs. 1,000 were subscribed at the meeting.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Bhosawul on the 28th September, says:—

The heavy floods on the G. I. P. lines have now subsided. The Superintendent and his staff, who went away to remedy the damages on the line, have returned.

On Saturday evening last, the 23rd instant, a party of friends, consisting of three ladies, two gentlemen, and a child, went out boating on the river Taptee here it was a fine moonlight night. Suddenly the boat capsized by colliding with a rock, and the occupants were thrown into the river. The currents were strong, and while the victims were struggling for life in the deep water, the loafers on standing on the banks of the river did not venture towards their rescue. Mr. A. E. Abbott being apprised of the fact, hastened to the spot and bravely swam across the river in spite of the heavy currents, and saved the lives of all except the child, who was carried away by the currents. It was not till the next day that the body was recovered some miles away. Mr. Abbott's gallant conduct in rescuing the lives of these Europeans deserves the notice of the Royal Humane Society.

BOMBAY PORT TRUST.

EXCERPTS from the proceedings of a meeting of the Trustees of the Port of Bombay held on the 26th instant.

ROYAL BOMBAY YACHT CLUB.

Read letter from the Honorary Secretary, Royal Bombay Yacht Club, dated 18th August, inquiring whether the Trustees will lease to the Club a further portion of Wellington Reclamation, measuring 7,605 square yards, required for the purpose of erecting chambers and for recreation ground. He states that the Club would be willing to pay Rs. 2,000 per annum for the additional land, or, if the Trustees will cancel the existing lease, and grant one lease for the combined area, that the Club will pay Rs. 4,800 per annum for the whole. Read report by the Traffic Manager, dated 18th August. Read minutes of members of Land Committee. The Chairman recommends:—(1) That the existing lease be not cancelled; (2) that the existing wooden fence be considered the boundary of the Reclamation next the Apollo-bunder road; (3) that the Club be offered the area extending 100' back from the Apollo-bunder-road, shown on their plan within the letters A, E, F, G, and measuring about 2,044 square yards, at 12 annas per square yard per annum for first twenty years, and Re. 1-2 per square yard per annum for remaining thirty years of a fifty years lease; (4) that they be offered the remainder of the area applied for by them, measuring about 5,970 square yards, at 6 annas per square yard per annum for first twenty years, and 9 annas per square yard per annum for remaining thirty years of a fifty years lease; (5) that they be required to pay the cost of removing the money-changer's building to another site; (6) that the area required by the Club on the roadway on the south-east side of the Reclamation, shown on the plan by the letters O, P, S, T, and Q, R, U, V, be given on sufferance only. The Chairman remarks that the rent of the additional land for the first twenty years would be about Rs. 3,772, and for the remaining thirty years Rs. 5,658, or an average of 7½ annas per square yard per annum for first twenty years and 11¼ annas for the remaining thirty years. The Chairman suggests that the Club be offered the option of having the lease to run for twenty years from 23rd November, 1882, and for 28 years from 23rd November, 1902, so as to have the new lease fall in at the same time as the old. The Chairman also recommends that instead of tying the Club down to use any buildings which they may erect on the land now offered them solely for the purposes of the Club, the clause in any new lease may run as follows:—"That the buildings shall not be used otherwise than as a Club-house, except with the leave in writing first obtained for that purpose from the Trustees." Mr. Jacomb concurs with the Chairman except as regards the proposed concession to use the buildings for purposes other than a Club with the written consent of the Trustees. He states that the grant has been considered from the first without reference to other possibly more valuable uses to which the premises might be put, and that consequently the lessee are not entitled to this advantage. It was proposed by the Chairman "That an offer be made to the Yacht Club, on the conditions proposed in his minute above quoted, for a forty-eight or a fifty years' lease, as the Club may prefer." It was proposed as an amendment by Mr. Jacomb "That the concession proposed by the Chairman as to the use of the land for purposes other than a Club be not granted." The amendment was first put and was lost, and the Chairman's proposal was afterwards put and was carried. Read letter from the Traffic Manager, dated 22nd September, asking for instructions with regard to the land temporarily made over to the Yacht Club. He states that the term for which 73 3-9th square yards was granted expired on 3rd September, and that the term for the rem and Dorabjee, does not say that any bundle of papers or pocket-book containing this security was lost. The account B is backed up by entries of two payments in Dorabjee's pass-book of Rs. 100 and of Rs. 224, which, it is urged, show that Dossibai paid him interest on the sum of Rs. 3,000. If the precise amount of the interest had been paid into Dorabjee's credit with his own bankers, some faint corroboration of his story might perhaps have been drawn from it; but this is not so. The account B, no doubt, tallies with the sums paid in, but then in the account B the balance is arrived at by the introduction of arbitrary items, such as Rs. 100 lent for the journey to Allahabad and Rs. 25 for a carriage, which are denied by the defendant Dossibai, and are not proved by any testimony independent of Dorabjee's. It is obvious that Dorabjee having entries to his credit in his pass-book of Rs. 100 and Rs. 224-12 might by the introduction into B of such items as Rs. 25 for a carriage very easily make it square with the actual fact, whether the sum assumed to have been lent at interest was Rs 1,000 or Rs. 5,000. The document B is in itself impeached as a fabrication, and the strength of a chain is not at all increased by thus adding a number of links to it, even if these be all sound ones. What comes nearest to a corroboration of Dorabjee's account is the omission by Dossibai, when in March, 1881, Dorabjee's false claim was made on her, to say anything of the loans by her to Dorabjee. She says she was prevented from doing so by her attorneys' clerk; but that is a most unlikely story. We should probably never have heard any admission on her part of the receipt by her of Rs. 3,00), but for Dorabjee's being in a position to prove it beyond question. Still it is not on the logical or moral flaws which the defendants' case presents that the plaintiff can rely for a judgment in his favour. He must justify it by the strength of his own case. In the case of payment of money the primary presumption is that it is in discharge of a debt, not by way of repayment of a loan. The presumption is easily displaced, but there is little or nothing to displace it. Dossibai's oath is in distinct contradiction to that of Dorabjee as to the whole series of material facts, and neither unfortunately can be relied on. By way of confirmation of his own better pecuniary circumstances, as compared with those of Dossibai, and to refute her story as to the Rs. 3,000 given on the 27th April, 1880, Dorabjee has shown that on the 6th April, 1880, he gave her Rs. 2,000. That this sum passed from him to her is undoubted. He connects it with a payment to him on the 17th November, 1880, of Rs. 2,000 by Dossibai, and if he was able on the 6th April, 1880, to lend Dossibai Rs. 2,000, he could obviously have repaid so much of the Rs. 3,000 which, she says, he at that time owed her. Nor would she be at all likely to make a promissory note in his favour for Rs. 2,000, while he, in fact, owed her Rs. 3,000. Part of the latter would naturally be set off against this smaller sum. Dossibai's account of this matter is that Dorabjee overhearing her telling her son Dadabhoy to take Rs. 2,000 to the bank, which sum was composed of small notes, offered to bring large notes which he had at his house in exchange for the small ones. He did, she says, bring the large notes the next evening, not in the morning as he had promised, and took the small ones in exchange. But, in fact, we find that Dorabjee drew the Rs. 2,000 from the bank and passed the notes to Dossibai, who next day paid them in to her own account. Not really having the large notes in his house, what object had Dorabjee to gain by drawing large notes to exchange with Dossibai for small ones? If he wanted small notes, he could get them direct from the bank. Dossibai could replenish her account as well by paying in small notes as large ones. Dadabhoy supports his mother in this story; but it is highly improbably. In November Dorabjee says Dossibai repaid the Rs. 2,000 she had borrowed from him. She says she at that time lent him Rs. 2,000 on the pledge of some silver vases. What is clear is that she borrowed the money at interest and for six months, which she was not likely to do merely to lend it again at the same rate of interest to Dorabjee. Bapoojee Jeejeebhoy took part in negotiating this loan obtained from a lady named Awabai. Dossibai denied that Bapoojee had had anything to do with this transaction; but here I am satisfied that his account is true, and hers false. She was anxious to guard against any suggestion of a close relation between her and Bapoojee; but the connection and the probable use made of it come out all the more strikingly from efforts at concealment. To support her account of the Rs. 2,000 paid by her in November, 1880, Dossibai produces the document No. 10. This is dated 23rd January, 1881, and is an order to deliver the silver cups to the bearer, the money having been paid. Dorabjee denies this document and the experts are doubtful about its genuineness. It appears less suspicious than some other papers in the case, but even if genuine it does not specify Rs. 2,000 as the sum or any sum in particular as having been borrowed by Dorabjee. On the whole, I think Dorabjee's story as to the Rs. 2,000 is better supported than Dossibai's. The matter is simply collateral to the one directly in issue in this case; yet it is of some importance, as if the document No. 10 is a forgery, that is a ground for supposing that fabrication did not stop there, but extended to other documents more directly bearing on the question to be decided. All I shall say is that the narrative of the defendants and the testimony brought forward by them respecting the alleged pawning of the silver vases is very unsatisfactory. With reference to some other facts of the case adduced by the defendants, I must [illegible] and say that it is obvious[illegible]

[illegible]ndum-book which Dossibai says [illegible] plain if it contained, as [illegible]nsactions it would [illegible] great value.

[illegible]terial [illegible] show [illegible]picious papers [illegible] shee[illegible]

[illegible] given [illegible] have retained the [illegible] had such papers as might [illegible] to his version of the affair, and [illegible] that story is at least as probable regarding what took place at Cowasjee's house as that told by the defendants. I cannot fully believe either. The pencil draft made by Dossibai was perhaps carried off by Dorabjee to give him a means of injuring her in her litigation with Heerjeebhoy, and so enabling Dorabjee to extort good terms for himself. But in so many complicated intrigues it is not possible to be certain as to the motives of any particular wrong action. There are two documents produced by the defendants, and if they were established as genuine, they make an end of the plaintiff's case. One of them No. 11, dated 28th August, 1881, purporting to be a letter or memo. from Dorabjee to Dossibai, admits that his previous demand for Rs. 3,000 had been unfounded. It has, he says, occasioned him remorse, and he begs forgiveness. This document, however, is said by the experts to bear marks of fabrication. It does not to me certainly look like a genuine writing, and I think it practically impossible that Dorabjee, knowing he had written such a letter, should have fabricated the acknowledgment of 6th September, 1881, on which the suit is brought. According to Bapoojee, indeed, the document must have been forged many months before. But that is a reckless statement deserving no particular consideration. I believe [illegible] evidence that the document No. 15, as well as [illegible] is a fabrication. It is enough for me to [illegible] No. 11, the circumstances are highly suspi[illegible] say that and other matters are calculate[illegible]cious. These doubt on the integrity of the d[illegible] to throw great Such a mass of untruths a[illegible]endants in this case, bear against the clai[illegible]nd bad faith brought to reckoned as a con[illegible]n of the plaintiff might be his own attem[illegible]rmation of his case. But then mott, as [illegible] to dictate evidence to Mr. Macdermott already [illegible]ell as the other facts to which I have said [illegible]refered, show he has not learnt from his [illegible] experience to be scrupulous. That he has been resisted by unconscientious means does not make his own want of integrity in any degree less. And, as I cannot rely on his evidence, I cannot give judgment for him simply as a penalty for lies on the other side. This applies as well to his claim for Rs. 3,000 as a debt for money advanced as to that directly on the acknowledgment J. After rejecting the claim on the latter, I cannot rely on the same evidence as proving the earlier debts. I must find that the claim in either sense is not proved, and that the plaintiff is entitled to no relief. But considering the nature of the defence, I direct that the parties shall respectively bear their own costs of the suit.
